

Benefits and challenges of collaboration in research.

Investigating the manifold aspects of mono-, inter- and transdisciplinary collaboration

Programme

- Location: Virtual workshop, hosted by the DZHW
Date: November 4th, 2021
Organization: Malte Hückstädt, Melike Janßen, Axel Oberschelp, Zhao Qu, Carina Weinmann
Contact: Axel Oberschelp, collaboration-in-research@dzhw.eu

Thursday, November 4th, 2021

09:00 a.m.	Welcome by the organizers Malte Hückstädt, Melike Janßen, Axel Oberschelp, Zhao Qu, Carina Weinmann
09:10 a.m.	Introduction: Field of research and contributions of the DEKiF project Monika Jungbauer-Gans (DZHW)
09:40 a.m.	Session 1: Interdisciplinarity
	Interdisciplinarity: Challenge or opportunity? Findings from group discussions among digitalization researchers Josephine Schmitt, Anne Goldmann, Samuel Simon, Christoph Bieber (Center for Advanced Internet Studies (CAIS) GmbH)
	Research and development for health technologies: Insights from interdisciplinary collaboration Kirsten Brukamp, Felix Tirschmann, Shirin Gatter (Evangelische Hochschule Ludwigsburg)
	Of “deficit models” and misunderstandings - On the collaboration of technical experts and social scientists in public participation efforts Danny Otto, Karolina Trdlicova (Department Stadt- und Umweltsoziologie, Helmholtz-Zentrum für Umweltforschung GmbH-UFZ)
10:55 a.m.	Coffee break
11:10 a.m.	Session 2: Internationality and interculturality
	A phase model of international team research: Typical challenges and solution strategies from project initiation to completion Sophia Charlotte Volk (Institut für Kommunikations- und Medienwissenschaft, University of Zurich)
	Using autoethnography to study intercultural and multidisciplinary research cooperations Jennifer Dusdal, Justin J.W. Powell (Institute of Education and Society, Department of Social Sciences, University of Luxembourg)
	International mobility as a driver of research collaboration and knowledge transfer Valeria Aman (Deutsches Zentrum für Hochschul- und Wissenschaftsforschung (DZHW))

12:25 a.m.	Lunch break
01:30 p.m.	Session 3: Insights into practice
	Collaborative research projects as temporary organizations: Distinguishing forms and research conditions Romy Wöhlert, Anna Kosmützky (Kindervereinigung Leipzig e.V.; Universität Hannover) Data multiples. Collaborative data practices in small Interdisciplinary teams Julia Kurz, Cornelius Schubert (SFB "Medien der Kooperation", Universität Siegen) The spatial dimension of collaboration in Centres of Excellence: exploring its multiple disciplinary meanings and practices Lautaro Vilches (Deutsches Zentrum für Hochschul- und Wissenschaftsforschung (DZHW); Humboldt Universität Berlin)
02:45 p.m.	Coffee break
03:00 p.m.	Session 4: Effects and perspectives
	Endogenous and exogenous constraints on the collaborative integration of researchers in their scientific communities Grit Laudel, Jochen Gläser (TU Berlin) "To plant the seeds for the clusters of tomorrow": Intended and unintended effects of the German Excellence Strategy David Kaldewey (Forum Internationale Wissenschaft, Universität Bonn)
03:50 p.m.	Wrap up and final discussion Chair: Gerhard Vowe (Heinrich-Heine-Universität Düsseldorf)
04:40 p.m.	Farewell
04:45 p.m.	End of conference